ESI ERGONOMIC SOLUTIONS RELEASES THE EVOLVE SELECTOR 'Evolve Selector' to Simplify Monitor Arm Selection

📅 DECEMBER 14, 2015 | MESA, AZ

Mesa, AZ (Dec. 14, 2015) — ESI Ergonomic Solutions today announced the launch of its new Evolve Selector, an online tool designed to help users select an Evolve monitor arm that will fit their needs.

The Evolve Monitor Arm, which was awarded Best of Neocon 2014 for Technology Support, is available in numerous configurations that can support from one to six monitors depending on the user's needs.

ESI developed The Evolve Selector to help reps, dealers, designers, and end-users narrow down their options and select the Evolve configuration that will work best within their individual workspace.

"The Evolve Series has options for everyone," said ESI Ergonomic Solutions CEO, Carol Keogh, "and with so many configurations available, we wanted to provide people with a quick and easy way to make a selection. The Evolve selector will help simplify the process and eliminate the guesswork for our customers."
