

UHURU Design to Launch Workplace Collection at NeoCon

New York, New York- UHURU Design is launching their first contract workplace collection at NeoCon from June 13-15th, 2016. UHURU Design is known for their luxury residential pieces, but has expanded into corporate and hospitality work in recent years.

The collection includes a workplace desk system with materiality incorporated into clean, contemporary and easily adaptable forms for a refined simplicity suitable for beautifully designed open offices. The desk systems include a spacious central channel designed to hide various electrical components, including 8-12 outlets in the center with USB alternatives. The benches have three leg configurations split (pictured above), broad and square.

Other pieces include space dividers and several cabinet and pedestal options that can incorporate seamlessly into the desk system or stand alone. The desk system surface, legs, dividers and storage all come in 2-4 finish and color options to make the entire system customizable.
