Koleksiyon Presents Tube at NeoCon® 2016

The Turkish brand's stacking cabinet system will now be available in five new colors

Chicago —April 2016— Koleksiyon, a leading international office furniture manufacturer, will be returning to NeoCon, North America's largest contract furniture show, June 13th-15th in Chicago after making its U.S. debut at the trade show last year. The company is back with an updated series of products, including Tube, an abstract cabinet system that will now be available in five new color finishes.

Designed by Studio Kairos, Tube offers a fresh take on the way we store documents and display both personal and work items. Flipping the traditional filing cabinet on its head, the main element in Tube is a single box — meant to resemble a tube — that acts as a building block. Architects and designers can build upon the initial box and add more pieces to create ordered compositions or even abstract installations.

Koleksiyon developed Tube as a flexible cabinet option that can adapt as a company grows or changes. Its modular cabinets stack up, and can be configured to have the doors open up, fold down, or offer pull-out drawers. The product can also be utilized as a partition, offering a unique and functional barrier between desks. New for 2016, Tube will be available in three veneer finishes and five lacquered finishes, including matte black, matte white, mustard, teal and charcoal.

The product will be on display at NeoCon along with Koleksiyon's other modern workplace collections. Visit the Koleksiyon showroom in the Merchandise Mart on Floor 11, Space - #113A.
