FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Koleksiyon to Debut New Version of Partita™ at NeoCon® 2016
Koleksiyon returns to NeoCon with an array of updated 21st century office solutions

Chicago —April 2016— Koleksiyon, a leading international office furniture manufacturer, will be returning to NeoCon June 13th-15th after making its North American debut at the trade show last year. The company is back with an updated suite of products, including new enhancements to the highly regarded Partita desking system.

Designed by Faruk Malhan, Partita was developed as work station that seamlessly combines modern technology within a residential inspired wooden desk. The design focus of many open office systems has been centered around high-tech pieces that can manage multiple devices on one platform. While most desking systems only offer metal bases, Partita brings the warmth of natural wood to the base structure in an X-shape, a staple consistent throughout the collection. The crafted look and feel of the furniture series is designed to provide an inviting and design-forward alternative to the modern corporate office interior.

Several variations of desk and meeting table options comprise the collection. Each piece includes clever wire management concealed within the body system. The Partita meeting table can easily host up to 10 people. Contrary to conventional desking units for meeting rooms, Partita is also suitable for executive rooms as an operational desk that brings a warm and solid touch to working environments. New for Partita is an all-black color option, which provides a counterpoint to the existing all white version.

Koleksiyon will also have other pieces on display that are solution-based and design-oriented for today's modern office. Please visit Koleksiyon at NeoCon on Floor 11, Space - #113A.
