SurfaceWorks Introduces Stretch-Out™ LX Edition

OAK CREEK, Wis. (June, 2016) – SurfaceWorks is set to launch its new height adjustable workstation, Stretch-Out LX Edition. Based off the original Stretch-Out model, the LX Edition will provide complete workstation essentials, such as a pencil lip, integrated wire management and attached power bar.

The newly designed Focus top is designed to increase productivity by offering a complete solution. The unique MR4V edge treatment is specifically designed for the workstation environment featuring an ergonomic flexible edge for user comfort and a raised pencil lip to prevent objects from falling off.

The height adjustable base provides numerous health benefits – allowing users to manage back pain and release energy, making it easier to focus. With features, such as programmable heights, soft start/stop and ultra-quiet motors the table is ideal for all applications. It ranges from 25” to 51” in height. Built for long-lasting function and durability, the 95 pound base is designed to withstand the rigors of hard use. SurfaceWorks provides a 12-year warranty on non-moving parts and a 5-year warranty on motors and moving parts.

The Stretch-Out LX Edition will make its debut at the NeoCon World’s Trade Fair 2016 (#7-4093).
