

Grim Workshop EDC Survival Gear

American Made Multi Tools, for your wallet, necklace, keychain, and more.

As unique as the men and women who carry our gear, our company was founded deep in the heart of Texas, by a lifelong Tradesman, a knife maker, an Artist, a Rancher, a Farmer, and the hardest job of all, a Mother. That means we make functional tools, that look great, and are all designed from different perspectives, which means we don't stick a bottle opener and multi wrench on everything. We run a 5th generation homestead in Texas, we get dirty, sweat, swear, and like our tools, we get the job done.

Grim Workshop is an American brand whose products are carried by soldiers, Hunters, Tradesmen, and many, many more. Our mission is to create tools as unique as the people who carry them, and like those people, our tools are always changing. Creating tools to fit into your wallet, necklace, keychain, and more, we spare no expense and make no compromises when it comes to our tools, and their quality. We don't mass produce our products, we manufacture each tool in small batch runs, that allow us to constantly evolve, and adapt our tools to our user's needs. All our tools are designed, engineered, and many produced in Texas, but everything is made in the U.S.A, and every piece of gear with our name on it, has our warranty on it as well.

Our tools were designed under a few simple principals

- be reusable - Grim's custom fabricated Tool Retention System allows you to return any removable parts to their original position
- be compact - Grim's tools are all designed to be stored perfectly flat and come in at just 1mm thick on average.
- be functional - we use the highest quality 400 series stainless steel, hardened for extra durability, and as diverse in design as our customers.
- Made in America – Our tools are all designed, have their materials sourced, and are manufactured here in the U.S.A.

Each Grim Tool is created to be carried by anyone, at any time, without any extra considerations needed. a credit card tool in a parent's wallet, one of our dog tag tools on a soldiers neck, a micro tool on a student's keychain, each tool we make is specially designed to be wearable, compact, reusable, and lightweight, but most of all, functional. What you need, where you need it. (which is with you)

Whether our products are used to save space, save time, or save a life, Grim's got a tool for that.
