

The Duo Block AR style vise blocks

The Duo Block is proud to announce they have begun shipping their latest products, the DB1015 and the DB945 these 2-in-1 vise blocks are a must for the AR platform armorers, builders and end users alike.

The DB1015 is designed on the DPMS style AR10 and AR15 style platforms, with one simple caveat; they're better than the rest! With superior fit and finish being the number one goal, succeeding benefits are equally impressive. Instead of having two different vise blocks, one for the AR10 platform and another one for the AR15 platform, they are both in one block! All the user has to do is "flip" the block over in the vise and utilize it for the other platform!

The DB945 is much like its bigger brother but instead, designed for the dedicated Glock style AR receivers, small (9mm/40) and large frame (45acp/10mm). With unparalleled fit and versatility the DB945 has been well accepted in the Pistol Caliber Carbine world due to the available Glock style vise blocks requiring minor alterations for proper fit, not the case with the DB945! Having such a solid lock up, the user can build their PCC with confidence right out of the packaging!

We have also been told the DB945 works well on the MP5 platform as well

The Duo Block was designed and is manufactured in New Hampshire and come with a lifetime guarantee.
