Angel Armor's AVAIL III+ Ballistic Door Panels to be Unveiled at Shot Show 2020

AVAIL III+ Engineered to Defend Against NIJ Level III Rifle Threats with Additional Protection Against Special Threats

FORT COLLINS, CO. — January 6, 2020 — Angel Armor will unveil its latest ballistic door panel — the AVAIL III+ — at Shot Show on January 21, 2020.

“Reducing the risk in high-risk stops is always our goal,” says Josh Richardson, co-founder of Angel Armor. “Our AVAIL III+ ballistic door panels will provide patrol officers with the next level of protection as they are engineered to defend against NIJ Level III Rifle Threats with additional protection against special threats. We’re excited to introduce the AVAIL III+ at Shot Show.”

Richardson adds that although the AVAIL III+ comes with added protection for patrol officers it remains true to the AVAIL series by remaining durable and simple to install. “We’re determined as ever to continue innovating so that law enforcement personnel throughout the nation are safer,” says Richardson. “That’s how we — as a company — say, ‘Thanks for your service,’ to those who protect and serve our communities.”

In addition to the AVAIL III+ Angel Armor will also be highlighting its ballistic vests including RISE 2.0 and RISE Uniform Carrier at Shot Show.
