

Ballistipax® announces the Survivor-1™ Quickdraw™ Body Armor System

Revolutionary rapid-deploy body armor with defensive and offensive capabilities

Melbourne, Florida— Oct. 8, 2020 — Today, Ballistipax®, LLC announced immediate availability of the Survivor-1™ Body Armor System, which provides end-users discreet ballistic protection as well as offensive weapons capabilities within seconds.

“I designed this product because, at the end of the day, I want people to come home to their families,” said David Malis, a surgeon, and CEO at Ballistipax.

A Revolutionary Approach to Body Armor

The Survivor-1™ Body Armor System features Ballistipax® patented one-handed Quickdraw™ plate carrier deployment, making it the only product of its kind. A full-sized MOLLE-clad plate carrier rests discreetly within Survivor-1's™ main compartment and deploys quickly and easily by pulling an ambidextrous handle positioned at the top of the bag body. The robust MOLLE panel allows for near-limitless weapon and equipment configurations, giving users the ability to customize their Survivor-1™ for any mission.

“It's the only product on the market that offers defensive protection, concealed carry and rapid deployment of a rifle,” said Malis. “Users can transform from vulnerable to protected and ready to engage in a matter of seconds.”

Endless Configurations

The Survivor-1™ also features two hook-and-loop side panels where quick-detach IFAK pouches or additional MOLLE panels can be added, further increasing mission-specific configurations. Ballistipax® also offers a line of ballistic defense products and accessories to support the Survivor-1™.
