Cimarron Firearms Expands Line with New Pistoleer

Fredericksburg, Texas (August 2020) – Cimarron Firearms, a leader in authentic replicas from America's Old West, is expanding their pistol line-up with the mid-year introduction of the Pistoleer. Designed by Cimarron founder and CEO, Mike Harvey, the Pistoleer is produced by Cimarron's partner, Uberti. The Pistoleer is styled on classic Old West-style revolvers but made for today's customers

"The Pistoleer is Mike's idea for a new line of revolvers incorporating all the best design features our customers love, such as the unique finishes and details," Bryce Wayt, VP of Retail Operations, said. "The 45LC version we have available now is just the first in this series that will eventually have more caliber and finish options."

The Pistoleer is a .45LC six-shooter with Uberti's Fully Automatic Safety Hammer with a 4 ¾" blued barrel and receiver. The steel backstrap is nickel-plated and the hammer and trigger guard are polished for a two-tone effect. All the screws are also finished in a charcoal blue. The two-piece walnut grip features a Cimarron Firearms embedded coin.

The Pistoleer is a superb Western-style carry gun and accurate on the firing range. MSRP is $518.70. See the video here.
